Business answers within your reach

Making the right connections— the key to your success.

Today more than ever, small businesses face unique challenges. Information moves faster. Competition is tougher.

Margins are tighter. And customer expectations are higher. Doing your job is hard enough, let alone attending to the business of running your business. That's where Net:Work can help.

Our comprehensive network of information, services and specialists can connect your business to resources and solutions you otherwise may not have the time, capital or internal capabilities to find. Net:Work is your one-stop shop for the custom solutions you need to stay competitive and efficient.

You'll work with your own Net:Work Business Specialist who will analyze your business and your market, and connect you to the resources and services you need. The bottom line? Net:Work can help reduce the costs of finding data and information, connect you with valuable business resources and services, and, ultimately, help your business develop and prosper. In today's environment, it pays to have the right connections.

"I'm helping strengthen Minnesota's business community by providing the resources and answers they need."

-Jillian Kayrit
